

Date: Aug 24, 2023

To Whom It May Concern,

Re: Endorsement for KPS Essentials Skincare

At Hello Gorgeous, we are fervently dedicated to "restoring the beauty that cancer steals." Our mission goes beyond superficial transformation. We coach and train women with cancer, aiming to rekindle the joy they feel when they look in the mirror, smiling back at their reflection with renewed confidence and strength. In our journey, partners who resonate with this motto are invaluable, and KPS Essentials Skincare stands at the forefront of such partnerships. Our collaboration with KPS Essentials started in 2017. Since the time of our first meeting, we have confidently used their product on hundreds of women battling cancer.

KPS Essentials, with its commitment to clean and organic skincare, has been an agent of transformation for countless women. Their products, deeply rooted in nature and nourishment, have become our exclusive skincare choice, helping us breathe life back into the lifeless, tired skin of many brave women facing the adverse effects of cancer treatment.

The rejuvenating impact of KPS Essentials skincare goes beyond mere aesthetics. In many instances, their formulations have been so effective that the need for additional surgeries was eliminated. The essence of "restoring the beauty that cancer steals" is beautifully encapsulated in every bottle of KPS Essentials, ensuring every woman's skin receives the vital nutrients it deserves.

Every recommendation we make for KPS Essentials comes from a place of deep admiration and trust. While they are a stellar choice for anyone seeking top-tier skincare, they are nothing short of a lifeline for those grappling with skin challenges post-cancer treatment.

Our heartfelt gratitude extends to KPS Essentials for their unwavering support of our organization and the women that we serve. Their commitment to not just skincare excellence but genuinely restoring hope and vitality aligns seamlessly with our motto. With KPS by our side, we are better equipped in our mission to ensure every woman can smile at her reflection, regardless of the battles she is facing.

In sincere appreciation,

Kim Becker

Founder/CEO Hello Gorgeous! of Hope, Inc